Gedvile Tamosiunaite is a Berlin-based photographer and art director, holding a Master's degree in Photography from ECAL (École cantonale d'art de Lausanne). Her recent work includes Sophiensæle's 2025/26 season imagery, Tanztage Berlin's 2024 campaign, and an editorial for Der Greif Issue 17, curated by Torbjørn Rødland, alongside commissioned projects for Soeder, Migle Editions, and Kismas.

Tamosiunaite specializes in still life photography, focusing on precise composition, immersive color palettes, and atmospheric lighting to create images with a quiet, controlled impact.

With a strong foundation in the arts and a sharp eye for contemporary aesthetics, she delivers work that is both conceptually thoughtful and commercially effective.
